toring the man and woman due to their suspicious behavior in the store. Another employee told her that the man was putting alcoholic drinks under his clothing and was heading for the door. The security officer confronted the man outside. He allegedly threw one of the bottles of Nuvo at her and dumped three others on the ground. He also allegedly threatened to hurt her if she didn't let him leave. When he reached into a pocket, she sprayed him with chemical spray. Kroger employees were struggling with the man when the driver ran to the pickup truck. He allegedly told her to "run the b* over." The truck sped toward the employees. When the man was caught in Buckeye Lake, he claimed he was having a heart attack. He was taken to the hospital accompanied by a Union Township officer. Rosezetta M. Chandler and Lowell Jones, both of Columbus, were charged with aggravated robbery which is a first degree felony. Both have been indicted and are being held in the Licking County Jail awaiting their trials. Police discovered Nuvo bottles in the truck that were traced to other stores.
